Methodists To Observe Centennial

Observations...

By UDELL

The Bay St. Louis Youth Center is making plans for its annual Christmas tree for the underprivileged children of this community and surrounding area.

B. R. Nobles, director of the Youth Center, is asking everyone who has an excess of usable toys and would like to give them to the children, to call and register their names and addresses with Mrs. R. V. Bienville, phone 217-W or Mrs. Cyril Glover, phone 1021. Their names and addresses will be given to Mr. Nobles who will pick up these toys at various intervals. Your cooperation will be deeply appreciated.

The local merchants have really gotten the Christmas spirit. The Christmas lights have been put up all over town, and Santa Claus is making his appearance in all of the stores' decorations.

We would like to wish our good friend, Mr. Rene deMontuzin Sr., a happy birthday. Mr. Rene, who is one of the oldest practicing pharmacists, celebrated his 87th anniversary Tuesday, December 2. Our sincere wishes for many more years of health and happiness are extended to this outstanding gentleman.

In Sunday's paper, we noticed an article announcing that an illustrated volume telling the story of the creation of the American Memorial Chapel in London, dedicated to the 25,000 Americans stationed in Britain or operating from British bases who lost their lives in World War II is being prepared and the British publishers are anxious to obtain the names and addresses of next-of-kin so copies of the book can be sent free of cost to them.

If you know of any families, address a card to Hon. J. J. Astor, The Times London Inc., 45 East 51st street, New York, 22, N. Y.

A lonely Marine stationed in Korea would like to hear from anyone in Bay St. Louis. In his letter he asked that we print a little notice in the ECHO asking people to write him as he does not receive much mail. His address is Pfc. Arthur Jeanneau Jr., 1216878 USMC, HMG, 1st BN, 5th Marines, 1st Marine Division, c/o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

"Light up and brighten up for Christmas" is the slogan of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club for the Yuletide season. Once again this year, the organization is sponsoring the Christmas lighting contest. Prizes will be awarded for the best outdoor decoration, doorway decoration, etc. Detailed information will follow in next week's paper.

Enjoy Hunting Trip

Dan M. Russell Jr. and A. H. Gregory spent several days last week as guests of Mr. Gregory's uncle, Dr. J. E. Gregory, in Georgia, where they enjoyed a successful quail hunt in Americus, Ga.

Enroute to Georgia, they were stopped at the city limits of Montgomery by highway patrolmen who advised them that they were selected to be the guests of the City officials and the Civilian organization, sponsors of the program. They were invited to be guests of a local hotel for two days, enjoy a free dinner, car wash, airplane trip and other gifts. Mr. Russell and Mr. Gregory had to refuse the offer as they had to be in Georgia for a certain time.

Mrs. E. Hannah has returned to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Alliston, following a visit of six weeks with her children in Bastrop, La.

The office of the Hancock County Production and Marketing Administration moved into the newly remodeled Agricultural Center October 17, 1952.

Fitzhugh Lee, a Hancock County farmer is chairman of the Agricultural Conservation Program in Hancock County. Alton A. Kellar, vice-chairman and Frank Shaw, regular member, are also Hancock county farmers. This group of men was elected to assist in the administration of the Agricultural Conservation Program in the county under the direction of the State PMA Committee.

Since Hancock County does not have the service of a County Administrative Officer, the county office force consists of one employee, Miss Mary E. Favre, who is county office clerk, secretary and treasurer. Miss Favre has been with the association since March 1943.

Through the Agricultural Conservation Program the greatest assistance possible is given to individual farmers in protecting and improving their land by carrying out the most urgently needed conservation practices.

Liming materials, phosphates, seeds and other farming materials and services may be furnished by the agricultural conservation program to producers for carrying out approved practices. The producer pays that part of the material or service as established by the ACP branch and the government pays a part in carrying out approved practices.

The chief aim of the Hancock County PMA Committee is to see that the maximum conservation of our farming resources is obtained for each dollar of program funds expended.

ONE KILLED, FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENT SUNDAY

History of First Methodist Church

Mississippi Methodism has produced some of the noblest men and women in the history of the church and every congregation, though large or small, has made its contribution to the building of the Kingdom of God.

History links the present with the past and today we look into the past to glimpse the highlights in the growth of Main Street Methodist Church.

Main Street Methodist Church was organized in the year 1832 in the town of Shieldsboro, now known as Bay St. Louis. Methodism was exceedingly weak along the gulf section and this particular community did not long specifically within the territory of either of the two pastoral charges in that section.

The Biloxi circuit George T. Vickers, preacher-in-charge did not reach as far west as the western side of the Bay of St. Louis, and the Gainesville circuit, James O. Woodward, pastor did not reach that far south.

The actual organization of a Methodist Congregation was effected by E. D. Pitts, a local Methodist, preacher and a teacher, who had established schools at Napoleon, on Pearl River above Pearlington, and in the town of Shieldsboro. The new church was attached to the Gainesville charge.

The name of Gainesville mission in the Paulding district reminds us of a village of some size, that once served as the center of a Methodist circuit, Gainesville was on Pearl River, about 25 miles from Bay St. Louis. Before the Civil War it was of importance as a trading place for a considerable section of the adjacent territory. From the early days of Methodism in Mississippi there had been Methodist churches along Pearl River, but they had been stronger on the west side of the river in the vicinity of John Ford's just how many Methodist churches were established on the east side of the river nobody seems to know. The first circuit east of Pearl River and south of the Whitesand circuit was formed at the Annual Conference held at Vicksburg in 1836. It was called Pearlington from a small community, also on Pearl River, about eight miles south of Gainesville.

By 1843 the circuit had extended along the Mississippi gulf coast and the name of the charge was changed to Biloxi, from the chief coast city in 1858 the Gainesville charge consisted of four churches, Gainesville, Pearlington, Bay St. Louis and Jordan River. Henry D. Berry was pastor that year, which was marked by gracious revivals, in which 50 were added to the church.

From that time until the outbreak of the Civil War the Gainesville charge had a fairly large membership, but they were in the main poor people, so that in 1864 it was served as a mission and appeared under that name. The name of Gainesville appears for the last time in the list of appointments in 1870, after which the name of the charge was changed to Pearlington, by which name it had been called 30 years before.

In the year 1874, Bay St. Louis was one of the four main preaching places in early coast Methodism, the other three places being Biloxi, Handsboro and Pass Christian. In 1880, services were held in a small building at the corner of Main and Second street on property given for the purpose by the late John V. Touline. Rev. J. W. McClarin was the pastor.

Annual Conference records of 1881 state that Rev. M. C. Callaway pastor, told of the Handsboro Circuit; the churches were at Handsboro, with 400 white population and 50 Methodists and a good house of worship, Bay St. Louis with 2,000 population and a good church building, and 16 members well attended. At 1882 Scott near Pass Christian, with a small population and 14 members. He had received four children and baptized nine children during the year.

In 1883, Bay St. Louis raised $20.20 during the week of prayer and self-denial. J. W. McLaurin, Agent of American Bible Society, presented the Bible cause on Sunday and raised $52.00 to organize a county society for the distribution of the Bible in that section.

An interesting item listed in the history of the church is, that the Rev. V. V. Boone the pastor at Bay St. Louis, married Miss Lillian May Hall of Bay St. Louis on Oct. 30, 1889 the ceremony being performed by Dr. T. S. West,

To Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jacobi Sr., will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday, December 10, at 8:30 a.m. at a High Mass of Thanksgiving to be offered by their son, The Right Reverend Monsignor H. Joseph Jacobi, at the Church of the Annunciation, New Orleans. The Most Reverend Joseph Francis Rummel, S. T. D., Archbishop of New Orleans, will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobi were married by Rev. Father Lavalle in New Orleans December 10, 1902. Eight children were born to the couple; the surviving children are Mrs. Lionel Hebert, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Jacobi, Albert Charles, Laurence John and Louis John Jacobi Jr. They have 18 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. Jacobi who was born in Germany November 30, 1875, and Mrs. Jacobi, who was born in New Orleans August 21, 1881, have been residents of Waveland and Bay St. Louis since 1931. They operated the Bobby Anna Bakery in Waveland for nine years; they have been at their present location in Bay St. Louis for the past 12 years.

LIONS BOWL KICK-OFF SET FOR 8:15 P. M. DECEMBER 6

Baptists Take Part In Program Giving

Final plans have been made and everything is in readiness for the 36th annual game between the Fleas and Flees of St. Stanislaus and their appearance in the first Annual Lions Bowl game at Stanislaus Stadium Saturday night, with the kick-off scheduled for 8:15.

Bowl Committee Chairman Earl Ramond reports great interest is being shown in this 36th annual pee-wee game and that a large throng is expected to see the kick-off.

Entertainment will be furnished the crowd by both St. Stanislaus and Bay High bands. A queen and her court will reign over the event, and students from Bay High, Stanislaus and St. Joseph's will be in the court. A fleet of convertibles will bring the queen and her escorts into the stadium, and a special side-line box will hold the entourage.

An additional $709,332 given to designated causes made a grand total of $174,794 given to all world missions.

The Gulf Coast Association is composed of churches in Harrison and Hancock Counties.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Piazza Sr., spent Thanksgiving in New Orleans with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pisciotta, and daughter.

Presiding Elder.

In the year 1890 H. C. Brown and L. Wallace Wood, under appointment and direction of I. W. Cooper, presiding elder after consultation changed charges, the former going to Covington and the latter to Bay St. Louis. The new pastor at Bay St. Louis wrote of his fine reception under such leadership as Hon. E. J. Bowers Dr. R. J. Turner, J. C. Grimes, M. L. Ansley W. F. Hall and L. H. Hearin.

In 1892 the parsonage was built and Rev. W. G. Forsyth was the first pastor to occupy it. In 1895 the present church building was erected during the pastorate of N. B. Harmon; it was completed and all debts paid during the pastorate of Rev. J. P. Drake and was dedicated by the late Bishop Charles B. Galloway in 1897. In 1898 during the pastorate of Rev. J. E. Grey, a Sunday School annex of six class rooms was erected adjoining the church.

In 1898, the present Education building was purchased and redecorated, during the pastorate of Rev. H. B. Oliver. This is the same building which was erected as the Methodist Church in 1880—later being used as a school.

It is interesting to note from the church records available to us that since 1880, 37 ministers have served the church. We also note that the Methodist Church of Bay St. Louis has been on several circuits during its life time, but now it is a strong station church with about 300 members.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Kirkpatrick returned Monday from a visit with Senator and Mrs. George E. Walker of Stoneville, Miss., where they attended a family reunion of the Real family.

Their trip was concluded with a visit to Miss Decima Rea of Westover, Miss.

Has Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Monti entertained at a party in honor of their daughter Janet, on the occasion of her 16th birthday, Wednesday, November 26.

Green and white color scheme was used in the decorations and refreshments. Dancing was enjoyed by the guests.

Paul Loup who celebrated his birthday Thursday, was honored at the party when the honoree presented him with a birthday cake.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended were Carolyn Rowley, Patsy Olavarria and Harry Wood, of New Orleans.

Patsy and her guests enjoyed a movie later in the evening.

Buehler-Viglia Wedding Celebrated

A recent wedding of interest in Bay St. Louis and New Orleans was that of Miss Mary Ann Viglia, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Viglia of Lake Charles, La., and Oliver Otto J. Buehler, son of Mrs. Roberta Seaman Buehler of Bay St. Louis.

The double ring ceremony was performed at St. Mathias church, New Orleans, by Rt. Rev. Monsignor John A. Vigliero.

Given in marriage by her brother, P. A. Viglia, the bride wore a patio-length gown of imported ivory chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The bodice and full-length sleeves were made of the lace; the top of the bodice was outlined in small rhinestones. The upper lace skirt was outlined in flowers to the nylon net flounce which finished the skirt. A coronet of lace held the three-quarter veil of illusion to the bride's head. She carried a mother of pearl prayer book topped with an arrangement of lily of the valley and ivory satin ribbon streamers centered with a white orchid.

Miss Lena Viglia, Lake Charles, was maid of honor. She wore a patio-length gown of coral velvet and nylon net. The gown, made with strapless embroidered velvet bodice, had a full nylon net skirt and a net stole. She wore a small hat of matching velvet and carried a cascade of peace roses.

Lt. Rose Lily Richard, U. S. N. R., Pensacola, Fla., and Mrs. Raymond K. Hotard of Gretna, La., served as bridesmaids. Their patio-length gowns had strapless velvet bodies outlined in silver braid and full skirts of nylon net. They wore nylon stoles and matching calots of velvet and net, studded with seed pearls. They carried bouquets of serenade peach roses.

Susan Ryan, niece of the bridegroom of Bay St. Louis, was flower girl. Her full-length dress, made on the same lines as the bridesmaids' was of blue nylon net and velvet. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of peach sweetheart roses.

Emilia St. Julian, New Orleans, was best man. Groomsmen were Raymond K. Hotard, Gretna, and Carlos Green Jr., New Orleans. Ushers were Francis Seiner, Lake Charles, and William E. Gordon, New Orleans.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Jackson Room of the St. Charles hotel. The couple was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Viglia, Mrs. Buehler and Captain Jack Rutherford, U. S. N. Commanding Officer, Naval Air Station, New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Buehler left on a wedding trip to Point Cedar, Ala., later in the day. For traveling, the bride wore a brown apaca suit with velvet trim and buff crepe blouse trimmed in bronze beads. She wore a brown and buff hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was a bronze and yellow orchid.

The couple will make their home at 3411 Clematis avenue, New Orleans. The bride, a Lieutenant in the United States Navy Nurse Corps, is presently stationed in New Orleans Naval Air Station. The bridegroom is associated with the New Amsterdam Company, New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Thi, beaux and son went to the circus in New Orleans Sunday.

town; today, we have North Little Rock, on the highway to Memphis, Tenn., nearly as large as Little Rock. So large, it had to have its own police department.

We certainly don't want Bay St. Louis to become a forgotten town, I'm sure, by being bypassed as a wide spot in the road. Therefore, I say, as a new resident, let's get together and make this bridge a creditable public pier.

Let us have something to give our younger generation; something to look up to and thank us for doing what we did. Many of you have sons in the service; we have three. They are the ones we are doing this for.

Why not call a town meeting at the high school and take a vote on it. Now that my wife and I are considering making Bay St. Louis our home, we are very much interested in its welfare.

I am a chef by trade, but I have done a lot of padding, and if it comes to the point where each citizen needs to donate his time on this project, I will greatly donate mine.

The couple took their vows from a satin-covered prie-dieu which was placed in the front of the main altar.

The "Mass of the Shepherds" was rendered by the choir; the duet in the Mass was sung by Mrs. Felix Porche, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Manning Boyne of Houma. The Grand Coteaux "Ave Maria" was sung of white roses interposed with fern and ribbon. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, an heirloom belonging to her mother, J. Scafide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Scafide of New Orleans and Bay St. Louis at the St. Eloi Catholic church there.

Matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. S. P. Brien Jr., who wore a gown of changeable gold taffeta, fashioned with a semi-basque bodice with portrait neckline and a full pleated skirt. Prosperity Week

Beginning on Monday, December 1, one billion and twenty-three million dollars in savings will be distributed to 1952 Christmas Club members through the United States.

According to Edward F. Dorset, president of Christmas Club Corp., this is an all-time Christmas savings peak in the 42 years of the club's operation. The $1,033,000,000 distributed among 11,712,000 members of 6,400 banking and saving institutions during National Prosperity Week will have a stimulating effect on holiday shopping.

In keeping with the increased popularity of this saving-for-a-purpose idea, Hancock Bank's Christmas Club also grows in local favor, and over $227,000 will be mailed to its own 3,690 Club Members December 1, an amount exceeding all records since the bank initiated the CHRISTMAS CLUB on the Coast. Come Christmas, many Miss. Gulf Coast homes will be a little more happy and prosperous because somebody saved throughout the year.

Bay High Chatter

THE YOUTH CENTER BOARD

The Bay St. Louis High School faculty has been stressing the improvement of reading during this session. The first step toward this improvement was the administering of the Iowa Silent Reading Test, Advanced Form, to all high school students. This information has been made available to classroom teachers in order that they may know how each student rates in his reading ability. This week we have used a film entitled "Speeding the Silent Reading" which is the latest contribution to the improvement of reading from an individual standpoint. The high school faculty will meet Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of discussing ways and means of following up on their findings in the deficiencies of reading of high school students.

ANNUAL COLLECTION FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

The annual Thanksgiving collection in the Junior and Senior High Department for the Mississippi Society of crippled children and adults amounted to $13.85. The sophomores led with a donation of $4.30. The seniors ran a close second with a contribution of $4.26.

The Bay High Tigelettes have been practicing for several weeks getting into condition for the 1952-53 season. They meet their first opponents Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. in the semi-finals of the tournament at Kiln. The girls who will take part in the tournament are: Guards:

County Agent's Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

DAIRYING

Roughage is extremely short on many farms. Farmers should feed as much roughage as the cows will eat; however, roughage should not be wasted. Good advice is to stretch it out and make it last.

The price of hays is out of gear. It will pay to buy hay if you can get good quality. However, much of the hay is of poor quality.

Take care of the feed you have. Build some cheap racks to get the hay off the ground. Don't let cows walk on hay as this helps to spread bangs disease.

Corn that has been cut with a shocker should be stored under shelter. If it was cut when small, cows will eat the corn as it is. If the corn has ears, pull them off and grind separately.

Cows should be fed grain in proportion to the amount of milk they give. If you grind your corn ears, stalks and all, you will not know how much grain you are feeding.

TRACTOR CARE

That tractor is an expensive piece of equipment and should be properly cared for. Before you put it away for the winter, make sure that you give it a good going-over.

Clean the dust, dirt and grease from the outside of the tractor; then inspect it for needed repair parts.

Before running it in the shed, service the motor. Drain the crankcase, flush it with gasoline or kerosene, then fill with fresh 20 weight motor oil. Put in a new oil filter. Give the engine a good run in until you are sure that the oil has covered all working parts.

Give the tractor a complete grease job before storing. Store weather. Store under a dry shed under a dry shed where the tractor will be protected from weather.

A wet floor in the poultry house makes the hens uncomfortable, tends to reduce egg production and increases disease hazards.

Patch all leaky roofs. Use deep litter and stir it regularly. Don't let it get caked or wet.

An over-crowded or poorly ventilated house makes for wet weight birds, allow three to three and a half feet per bird.

Keep the battery at full charge at all times. A battery not at full charge may freeze.

Drain all fuel from tanks, lines and carburetor to prevent gum deposits.

Remember, slack season is the time to make tractor repairs. So if any part needs replacing, order that part and install while the tractor is in winter storage.

POULTRY

A wet floor in the poultry house makes the hens uncomfortable, tends to reduce egg production and increases disease hazards.

Patch all leaky roofs. Use deep litter and stir it regularly. Don't let it get caked or wet.

An over-crowded or poorly ventilated house makes for wet weight birds, allow three to three and a half feet per bird.

Keep the battery at full charge at all times. A battery not at full charge may freeze.

Either keep enough anti-freeze in the radiator to prevent freezing even in the coldest weather, or drain the radiator and clean with a good commercial radiator cleaner; flush with clean water and leave drains open.

Keep the battery at full charge at all times. A battery not at full charge may freeze.
